SCAM ALERTS

Identity theft happens when someone steals your personal information and uses it without your permission. It's a serious crime that can wreak havoc with your finances, credit history, and reputation — and can take time, money, and patience to resolve.

What to Do Right Away

Immediate Steps to Repair Identity Theft Here's how to begin to limit the harm from identity theft.

What to Do Next

Extended Fraud Alerts and Credit Freezes

Placing both extended fraud alerts and credit freezes on your credit reports can make it more difficult for an identity thief to open new accounts in your name.

Repairing Your Credit After Identity Theft

Here are step-by-step instructions for disputing fraudulent charges and accounts related to identity theft.

Lost or Stolen Credit, ATM, and Debit Cards

Federal law limits your liability if your credit, ATM, or debit card is lost or stolen, but your liability may depend on how quickly you report the loss or theft.

What Librarians Do

Librarians help people find information from many sources. They maintain library collections and do other work as needed to keep the library running.

Work Environment

Most librarians work in schools, colleges, or public libraries. Most work full time.

How to Become a Librarian

Most librarians need a master's degree in library science. Some positions have additional requirements, such as a teaching certificate or a degree in another field.

Librarians help patrons find the information they need.

- » Contiguous U.S. had eighth wettest and 15th warmest summer

The average temperature for the contiguous United States during the summer season (June-August) was 72.6°F, 1.2°F above the 20th-century average, say NOAA scientists. The average August temperature was 73.1°F; it was the 28th warmest August on record for the Lower 48. Alaska also had its second warmest summer.

» Global July temperatures sixth highest on record The globally-averaged temperature for July 2013 was the sixth highest July since record keeping began in 1880. It also marked the 37th consecutive July and 341st consecutive month (more than 28 years) with a globally-averaged temperature above the 20th-century average. The last below-average July temperature was July 1976.

EBSCO Information Services Releases a Free Version of ERIC During Government Shutdown

EBSCO Information Services (EBSCO) is making the government database ERIC available during the government shutdown. ERIC, the Education Resource Information Center, is typically available through the government website (http://eric.ed.gov/) as well as via EBSCO's EBSCOhost® research platform. Because of the shutdown, access to the full text of articles and other materials will not be available but researchers will have access to the full set of A&I records on EBSCOhost. Users going to http://www.ebsco.com/freeERIC will now see ERIC listed among the other free EBSCO databases such as GreenFILE™ and Library, Information Science & Technology Abstracts™ (LISTA).

ERIC provides access to educational literature and resources including access to information from journals included in the Current Index of Journals in Education and Resources in Education Index. It was designed as a national information system to provide access to education literature and resources. According to its website, "ERIC is the world's largest and most frequently used education digital library." ERIC provides more than 1.4 million bibliographic records and dates back to 1966.

Creating mercury-free health care in Argentina

yet it is paradoxically found in many essential medical devices including the traditional device to measure blood pressure and the medical fever thermometer. When these are broken or discarded the mercury they contain can contaminate the environment. This feature story examines how Rivadavia Hospital in Argentina has been part of a national drive phasing out medical devices containing mercury.
